Hurricane Carla's Edge Hits Coast

173mph Winds Lash South U.S.

SEA INVADES GALVESTON

This was a typical scene in Galveston, Tex., today as hurricane-driven tides lapped at store windows and turned streets into canals. Thousands fled the city. (Ap-Wirephoto.)

ANCIENT PALM TREES in park about two blocks from bayfront in Corpus Christi, Tex., fell before the force of hurricane Carla as it swept in from the sea.

OTTAWA STANDING BY OFFSHORE RIGHTS

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal government does not intend to yield its jurisdiction over offshore resources unless it is told to do so by the courts, Resources Minister Dinsdale said in the Commons today.

We gave that answer to H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) who noted that the British Columbia government has awarded offshore oil exploration rights totalling 1,000,000 acres to 12 companies.

Smelter Union Heads Charged After Riot

SUDBURY, Ont. (CP) — Two top officers of the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.) were charged today with unlawful assembly.

Police laid the charges against national president Ken Smith and the District 2 chief, Mike Solski, in connection with an explosive meeting Sunday night of Sudbury Local 598.

Smith was taken to police headquarters and bail was set at $300. Solski was not arrested immediately.

FLOODS BRING SNAKE PLAGUE

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP) — This section of the upper Texas coast has another worry today other than hurricane Carla—rattlesnakes.

Civil defence director Kirby Smith said a 10-foot tide caused Texas City, across the bay from Galveston, to be flooded by Moses Lake—and with the floodwaters came the rattlesnakes.

"They're everywhere," Smith said. "My men say they are trying to climb up walls of homes while trying to get out of the water."

Wayne on Mat

VANCOUVER (CP) — Coach Wayne Robinson and other British Columbia Lions' brass will appear before a special directors' meeting tonight to explain why the Western Football Conference club has not won a game this season.

Them offshore rights seem to be an off-again on-again deal.

Thet Carla is tough. But think o' half a dozen of 'em arrin' by rocket missile at th' same time.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT UNITS SET UP NEAR CORRIDOR

BONN (Reuters) — High defence ministry sources said today the Communists have set up anti-aircraft units in East Germany south of the air corridors linking West Germany with Berlin.

The sources said the Communists have built large airfields near Magdeburg which might be used in case they wanted to force down Western aircraft using the corridors.

Defence Minister Franz-Josef Strauss said Sunday night that West Germany "very soon" will announce a decision to retain some 36,000 draftees due for release from service Sept. 28.

ROCKET TESTS PLANNED

'There Will Be Talks' Says K

STALINGRAD (AP) — Premier Khrushchev chose Russia's bloodiest battleground of the Second World War to tell his people he sees "encouraging rays of hope" of settling the Berlin-German crisis peacefully. He predicted "there will be negotiations."

The Soviet leader's declaration Sunday brought wild cheers from a crowd of 35,000 that included hundreds of veterans of the battle of Stalingrad.

The premier said a nuclear war would create great destruction in the Soviet Union but asserted that "imperialists" would be wiped out.

As Khrushchev spoke, a communiqué he signed jointly with Prime Minister Nehru of India was released in Moscow and New Delhi calling "for a peaceful solution of the German problem through negotiations between all concerned."

LEADERS AGREE

Ending his official visit to the Soviet Union, Nehru agreed with Khrushchev "that general and complete disarmament under strict and effective international control was the most important question now confronting the world".

But while the accent was being placed on peace, the Soviet government announced it will fire "more powerful and improved" multi-stage rockets in to a Pacific target area beginning Wednesday and continuing to Oct. 15.

The Russians have announced that these rockets could deliver super nuclear warheads.

Riel Survivor Dies

MAIDSTONE, Sask. (CP) — Jean Dumont, 102, of Maidstone, Sask., a survivor of the Riel rebellion of 1885, died here Sunday. Mr. Dumont served under his uncle Gabriel Dumont, a lieutenant under Riel.

Death took a grim route on race courses Sunday.

Two internationally known drivers were killed and at least 14 persons, including two five-year-old youngsters, were fatally injured while watching events that transformed the races into tragedies that rocked the sports world.

SPUN OFF

GERMAN BARON Wolfgang von Trips, one of the world's leading race car drivers, and 12 spectators were killed Sunday in Monza, Italy, when his speeding machine spun off the Italian Grand Prix course and killed into a crowd of fans lining the course.

At least 25 others were injured—some them seriously—in the worst accident in the 32-year history of the Italian race.

FLIPPED

BOB HAYWARD boat flipped

Bob Hayward, the Canadian who rocketed to fame earlier this summer by winning the Harnsworth Trophy for a third successive time, also was killed Sunday when his boat flipped in the second heat of the Silver Cup regatta on the Detroit River.

Hayward, a chicken farmer who lived in London, Ont., brought fame to himself and Canada when he won the Harnsworth Trophy—top challenge race in international power boat competition—for the first time in 1959.

The two five-year-old tots were killed when a wheel from a stock car crashed a guard rail and went into the stands in a race at Wausau, Wis.

DETROIT (AP) — United Auto Workers' Union members began strikes at General Motors Corporation plants at 11 a.m. EDT (8 a.m. PDT) today, and indications were that the giant automotive company might be shut down by tonight.

The UAW represents some 325,000 GM hourly-rated workers at 129 plants across the United States.

As union members started walking off their jobs, company and union negotiators, still deadlocked on many local issues, broke off national talks until this evening. GM has said walkouts at key plants could make the entire company idle.

EXTEND DEADLINE

Meanwhile, the International Union of Electrical Workers and GM announced they were extending their contract deadline from 11 a.m. today until midnight Thursday. The IUE represents some 25,000 GM hourly-rated workers.

As the strikes erupted, the UAW announced in a state-

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union detonated two more nuclear devices in the atmosphere over the weekend.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission described Sunday's blast as "one the order of several megatons" or the equivalent of several million tons of TNT. This contrasted with reports on the other explosions described as "in the low to intermediate range with a TNT equivalent of only a few thousand tons."

People and Things

LONDON (UPI)—One of three "unhappy" British soldiers who advertised for wives to buy them out of service has a taker—but she's a credit buyer. June Daley, 20, said she would buy Signalman Johnny Dundee—if she could do it on the installment plan and get her money back if she's not satisfied, the Daily Sketch said today.

Dundee and two of his army buddies had said they would marry the first girl who put up $420 to $750 to buy them out of the army.

SELLAFIELD, England — A 13-foot monster with three humps and a python's head was reported in Bassenthwaite Lake Sunday.

Skindivers found six golf balls and a fishing rod.

LONDON—Her Majesty's government today refused to pay a 183-year-old American debt. But the Chancellor of the Exchequer said he would fork over the $18 out of his own pocket.

The chancellor, Selwyn Lloyd, said he will not pay the 270,000 pounds ($75,000) which a Philadelphia church claims is owed in interest on the debt incurred by a troop of redcoat soldiers of Queen Elizabeth's great-great-great-great grandfather, King George III. The redcoats ripped up the church's fence for firewood on a cold winter's day in 1778 during the American Revolutionary War.

LONDON—A collie dog named Gairn, normally occupied minding sheep, found a valuable pearl necklace lost by Queen Ingrid of Denmark in heather near the royal family's Balmoral estate in Scotland.

Queen Ingrid lost the necklace while tramping through the heather with a Balmoral grouse-shooting party.

The story of the collie's alertness became known when its owner, farmer William Sherriffs disclosed Sunday that he had received a thank-you letter from the Queen.

CHELMSFORD, England — Former policeman Harry St. John's painting of a policeman for a recruiting poster was turned down because it's too "realistic"—it captures the loneliness of a country constable too well."

Tshombe Rebuffs UN

ELISABETHVILLE (Reuters)—Premier Moïse Tshombe of Katanga told a press conference today he has rejected a United Nations "ultimatum" to go to The Congo capital of Leopoldville today or face "grave consequences."

The secessionist leader told reporters that four Katanga deputies sent to the Congolese national parliament have not had their freedom guaranteed by the UN as promised.

Two députés fled Friday to Brazzaville and two others were not reachable but believed to be in hiding in Leopoldville, he said.

Tshombe said Katanga is willing to negotiate with the central government of Cyrille Adoula and send delegates anywhere except to Leopoldville. He preferred Kamina in northern Katanga.

Pope Makes Appeal For World Peace

CASTEL GANDOLFO—Pope John, in an impassioned appeal for world peace, called upon world leaders Sunday "to face squarely" their tremendous responsibilities before the tribunal of history and the judgment of God.

The 79-year-old Pontiff, after saying a special mass dedicated to world peace, said: "We call upon the rulers of nations to face squarely the tremendous responsibilities they bear."

"It is truly upon wise men that the issue depends, that force shall not prevail, but right, through free and sincere negotiations; that truth and justice shall be vindicated by safeguarding the essential liberties and the inexpressible values of every nation and of every human person."

His appeal mentioned no leader specifically but it came amid pressure from the non-aligned nations to bring President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev together in face-to-face talks.

Adding drama to his special mass made by other popes on the eve of the First and Second World Wars.

He recalled an exhortation by Pope Pius X, later St. Pius X, in 1914, and the famous peace appeal by Pope Pius XI

"Salutis exordium, et pax incrementum—the dawn of salvation and the growth of peace. Amen, amen."

Pope John said the mass for peace at a temporary altar placed in the Benedictine Hall on August 24, 1939, a week before the Second World War started.

CLOSED SOLEMNLY

Pope John closed his 2,000-word message solemnly:

"The world has no need of victorious wars and defeated peoples, but of the renewed strength of salvation and of the fruitfulness and calm of peace. This is its need and this is for which it cries aloud:

"Salutis exordium, et pax incrementum—the dawn of salvation and the growth of peace. Amen, amen."

Pope John said the mass for peace at a temporary altar placed in the Benedictine Hall

Thousands of tourists, pilgrims and residents of Castel Gandolfo, 15 miles south of Rome, were in the hall. Dozens of cardinals, archbishops and bishops sat in rows along the wall.

Millions more around the world heard the plea on television and radio. The Vatican attaching tremendous importance to the speech, immediately distributed translations in many languages.

Teller, keynote speaker here Saturday night at an awards banquet, said that in his opinion the Soviet Union has "already surpassed us in every important respect at a time when war can come very fast."

His remarks brought jeers from the audience.

EUROPEAN FARMERS ON TOUR

83 Perish In Air Crash

SHANNON, Ireland (Reuters) — High tidal waters on the River Shannon today halted attempts to recover 19 bodies still in the wreckage of a United States-bound airliner which crashed here Sunday, killing all 83 aboard.

The high water drove recovery workers from the spot where the fuselage of the President Airline's DC-6B Theodore Roosevelt was embedded in thick river mud.

The plane en route to Chicago from Dusseldorf, West Germany, crashed in thick fog within two miles of Shannon Airport after taking off after a refuelling stop.

The plane was piloted by Capt. Ed Tonnesen of Los Angeles and a crew of three other Americans, co-pilot Robert Budnik, navigator Tom Johnson and engineer Alfred Kruger.

Sunday night 63 of the 83 bodies were brought ashore. The 77 passengers were 65 Germans, eight Austrians, two Swiss and two Dutch.

WORST IN BRITAIN

In Dusseldorf, an official of the agricultural implement firm Mannesmann-Renner said the passengers were farmers and agricultural students invited to tour the U.S. for three weeks by A. O. Smith of Milwaukee, an agricultural machine manufacturer.

The disaster produced the highest death toll in a plane crash in the British Isles. The worst previous crash was March, 1950, when 80 died in Wales. It also was the worst disaster ever to befall a U.S. commercial plane overseas.

Immediate rescue work was hampered by the high tide which made the river seven miles wide at the crash scene.

ATOM TESTS 'SUICIDAL' CHISHOLM

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Canadian psychiatrist Dr. Brock Chisholm told a Harvard University audience Saturday night that resumption of nuclear testing and civil defense preparations were "obsolete and suicidal patterns of behavior."

Chisholm, of Victoria, B.C., and a former director-general of the World Health Organization, said:

"Circumstances have changed to the extent that inadequate defence against military attack now is impossible."

"Further development of our ability to kill people is a self-defeating approach which only stimulates an international race to ultimate destruction."

Call to the UN

MR. LESTER PEARSON PUTS into graphic words the opinion of most thinking people when he says nuclear war over Berlin would be "grotesque in its absurdity, complete in its consequences and all embracing in its destruction."

To avert such a catastrophe he calls for a policeman.

"Let world opinion, expressed through the UN, declare it will not happen and take action to prevent it by the mobilization of world opinion in the assembly of the world," he says.

This, he adds, is no retreat from the defence of freedom. He is not prepared to move meekly from the path of the aggressors.

Mr. Pearson's proposal makes sense at this time merely if it proposes the introduction of a force of peace officers between the two factions, East and West, which face each other in hostility across the barbed wire of Berlin. No sane person on either side wants nuclear war. None can ignore the consequences of such a disaster from which no one could escape.

The introduction of United Nations instruments, the police force and some of its international agencies in Berlin, would not immediately solve the problem of a divided Germany. It could, however, impose a restraining influence on all sides, easing to some degree the frictions which could inadvertently strike the spark of war.

This could be an application of the brakes which Mr. Diefenbaker urges at this time to the "threats and recriminations" which might progress in the emotionally charged atmosphere of Berlin to the grotesque absurdity of which Mr. Pearson speaks.

The Liberal leader, whose efforts for peace won him the Nobel Prize, offers his proposal to avoid "impulsive" action by any country. He recognizes the need for negotiation, difficult as it may be with the Communists.

Implicit in the suggestion to use the United Nations is an understanding that Berlin will not decide the final issue between the East and the West. That is a problem which will plague the world long into the future. But if the crisis over the former German capital will not resolve the larger conflict, in Berlin are the combustibles which, once ignited, could destroy humanity.

That possibility makes the Berlin crisis the business of the world and the proper concern of the world assembly.

Getting Out of Control?

IN GIVING OWNERS OF B.C. Electric preferred shares a second choice of transfer security Mr. Bennett has made only a gesture toward meeting the criticism arising from the government's takeover.

It was criticism that was most strongly expressed in a resolution of the Canadian Bar Association in convention at Winnipeg. The bar deplored the compulsion placed on shareholders to comply with the government's plan and accept its valuation, and the Crown's immunity from appeal against its actions.

But these were only one phase of the disturbing elements in the takeover. In giving the new Crown agency unlimited power to borrow funds the government has gone beyond not only the accepted practice in such cases but beyond safe government policy as well.

The Power Commission, the PGE Railway, the provincial Toll Authority and such bodies are granted borrowing powers by the legislature only in specified sums. The Power Commission, for instance, has borrowing powers up to $300 million by past legislation. But as it stands at present, the B.C. Electric may borrow any amount that its directors, guided by Mr. Bennett's policies, may care to set. The public, which nominally owns the agency, has no power to place a limit on its debt; the legislature is out of the play.

This is a situation which should be remedied at the earliest possible moment. The Social Credit government has always been too prone to achieve its objectives regardless of legislation or approved practice. The collection of penalty fees from campers in four provincial parks this summer, without either order in council or legislative sanction to justify the collection for the first month or more, is a case in point.

No government can act contemptuously toward the law, or even appear to act contemptuously, without giving the public encouragement to adopt a similar attitude.

Mr. Nixon and California

WITHIN THE NEXT FOUR OR five weeks Mr. Richard Nixon is expected to make up his mind about his immediate political future.

Before mid-October he says he will decide whether or not to run for governor of California. On that decision hang many developments in the United States domestic political field.

If Mr. Nixon runs for governor and is elected, his gubernatorial term would overlap the next presidential campaign. If he runs and loses, then his political stock would decline.

How he would stand if he declined to run and left himself available for the Republican nomination in 1964 is an imponderable.

But whatever his intentions, observers in Washington suggest that the White House expects New York's Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller to be the next opponent. That assumption is based in part on the argument that Mr. Nixon failed to win at the height of his influence as vice-president. If he could not command sufficient electoral college votes in 1960, how can he expect to do better when he no longer is only a heartbeat away from the presidency, they ask?

The closeness of the vote which deprived him of the presidency, however, indicates the potency of Mr. Nixon's last candidate. Since the people made their choice—or rather, since the electoral college made its choice—Mr. Nixon has done little to prejudice his position as an outstanding aspirant for the Republican nomination three years hence.

Whether Governor Rockefeller has injured his chances through his championship of foreign aid borrowing remains to be seen. That issue, which stirred influential Republicans, will no doubt be long forgotten before presidential nominations are held.

In the meantime, Mr. Nixon holds a substantial share of the domestic American political spotlight. What he does in the next few weeks about the California governorship could be highly significant when the big contest comes up again in 1964.

Saanich Marine Drive

THE PROPOSAL OF THE CAPITAL REGION PLANNING BOARD to survey the waterfront between Cordova Bay and the Experimental Farm as a preliminary to filling a gap in the marine drive around Saanich Peninsula has merit of its own. The scenic attractions of such a completed automobile road bordering the sea are obvious.

There is, however, another virtue in the plan. It will help to direct attention to the desirability of inspecting all Saanich Peninsula attractions with a view to retaining outstanding amenities for public use as the region is built up.

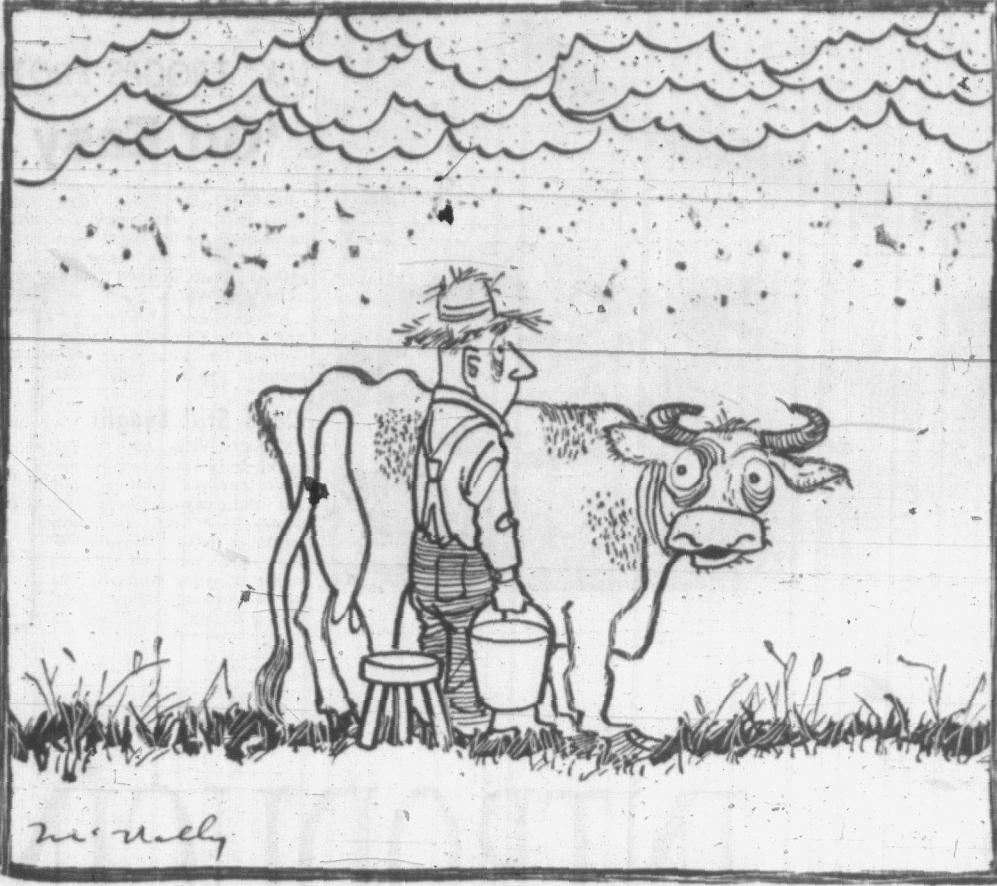

It is easy enough to find fine woodland areas and spacious fields north from the city at present. Those areas, however, are being reduced as more and more people acquire property for residential use, break up the wild or farm land and remove excellent vistas and potential recreation grounds from public access.

The time is not far distant when haphazard development of this kind could eliminate the possibility of creating ideally located settlements with wild land around them open to public use. An ungainly sprawl could—and probably will unless planned action is taken—develop where many amenities in the way of open areas now exist. The planning interests have already expressed their regret over the number of excellent park or picnic sites on the waterfront which have passed into private hands in the last 10 years.

If population projections are to be accepted—and they have proved conservative in many instances—the growth of the peninsula as a residential area is assured in the near future. To make the best use of the land and to keep its attractions, planning is needed now.

The suggestion that the marine drive gap be closed helps to underscore that point and to invite more people to follow the road around the seafront for the splendid vistas it provides.

TRAINING FOR WHAT?

Will Not Trust Even Their Own Mothers

WITH so much attention being focused on Soviet education lately, it is interesting to get a look, even second-hand, at the methods employed in Russian schools, quite apart from the subjects taught. A recent New York Times Magazine article quotes a Soviet educator, A. S. Makarenko, on this topic. The Russians seem to be approaching the same goal as we, but in a different way and with different ultimate results.

They start out with the principle that the state is more important than the individual, and that even the family must come second to the state although parental love is extolled as the best possible environment.

"In delegating to you," Mr. Makarenko tells parents, "a certain measure of social authority, the Soviet state demands from you the correct upbringing of its future citizens."

Parental love is part of that "correct upbringing." But "if you wish to give birth to a citizen while dispensing with parental love, then be so kind as to warn society that you intend to do such a filthy thing."

But having made this gesture to home and mother, the state apparently goes ahead full steam.

This idea of progressive competition, backed by joint aid among the competitors to become superior to some larger competitive unit, is designed to guide the child into future citizenship, City versus city, national district versus district, and so on to the ultimate competition, the Soviet Union versus the world.

Once in school—and the younger may have previous experience of institutional care in public nurseries and similar places—the student finds himself in a firm system of competition and assistance.

These seemingly contradictory elements are blended in an ingenious way.

The child must work hard to excel. Having done this he must turn to help the other half dozen members of his row in the schoolroom, so that his row will be superior to the other rows. This process includes public criticism sessions of each other and of oneself, aided by appointed monitors who must report defections and shortcomings among their group.

Onward and Upward

Having helped his row to beat other rows, the student must then help his classroom to be better than other classrooms by bringing weak members up to scratch.

The process continues, with classes vying against each other but uniting to make their school better than other schools.

This idea of progressive competition, backed by joint aid among the competitors to become superior to some larger competitive unit, is designed to guide the child into future citizenship, City versus city, national district versus district, and so on to the ultimate competition, the Soviet Union versus the world.

That final competitive spirit could remain industrial and co-existent—or it could conceivably become military. But the behavior pattern would be there.

Must Conform

Naturally, conformity plays a strong part in the whole process. Individuals who disagree are not to be observed for possible useful suggestions; they are impeded to be brought into line.

And there are deviationists, it seems, despite the system. Russia has an alcoholic problem, a juvenile-hoodlum problem, among other sociological maladjustments. So far these, no doubt, form a small proportion of the population.

But Russia's misfits may yet be the hope of the world. A nation of 200 million brought up on closely controlled, regimented lines could result in a devastating product—the nearest approach to the "1984" citizen the world has yet seen. The misfits—the individuals who did not want to conform, whose inner consciousness rebelled against the machine, whether by composing poems, getting drunk, writing novels or robbing pedestrians—might provide the only remaining spark of human personality to leave the mass.

There are many, many things which make Canada a wonderful country, the people, the land, the scenery, but in spite of the refrigerator salesmen, the "standard of living" is not one of them. We must get rid of this smug superiority (or is it inferiority) to the poor benighted Europeans who have to exist with only one car and a small refrigerator before we can again start to learn what they have to teach and perhaps some day catch up mentally rather than materially.

I am using a nom-de-plume not because I am unprepared to give chapter and verse to support my opinions, but because some few professors have little sense of humor and some copy of this journal might eventually penetrate to the outer darkness of the mainland.

Too Much for Solomon

Earlier in the summer I had occasion to attend a number of city council meetings, and I appreciate the subtle satire in Mr. Tobin's account of a typical council meeting.

At the council meeting on July 13 there were 46 items on the agenda. Some of these had a half-dozen sub-items. Even Solomon could not have voted intelligently and consistently on so many subjects. The council meeting convened at 2:00 and adjourned about 6:15 without getting through the agenda. Approximately one-third of the items dealt with planning and zoning bylaws.

If the city council would engage a competent firm of planning consultants to prepare an official city plan, then adopt this plan and not change it every time some friend or business acquaintance wanted it changed, millions of dollars would be saved and countless hours of needless bickering would be eliminated in the coming years.

ESSENCE OF THE FENS

Whenever anybody mentions the Fens to me the same scene always springs into my mind. It's still windy day in July. I'm walking along a green path with dense thickets of sallow and reed on either hand. The air is thick and heavy, rather like that in a greenhouse, and there's an indescribable smell, a sort of peaty, herby smell everywhere, and the faint hum of millions of insects fills the air.

If, for example, a 100-megaton Soviet warhead were set off over the mid-Atlantic, a great many persons on four continents at least—North and South America, Europe and Africa—would see the awesome display.

These, then, are the reasons why some experts are speculating on what the Soviet Union might do with a 100-megaton bomb. They caution that there is danger in all such speculation, especially when it is impossible to know what the Soviets are thinking. Nonetheless, these experts are more worried about a display of terror than a display of 100-megaton military might.

As Our Readers See It

Weak in Maths

I was interested to read your editorial on Saturday discussing a report by the OEEC Commission on education and their comments on the standard of the mathematics taught in the high schools of Canada. There can be no doubt of the truth of this criticism, although I admit I was rather surprised to find that Canada had been graded even lower than the United States.

My own experience of an English school and now, far too many years later, of a Canadian university, have forced me to conclude that the standard of mathematics attained in our high schools is pathetically inadequate as a preparation for degree work.

I was expected to be familiar, with one example, with elementary differential equations when taking Higher School Certificate at the age of 16, a subject which the Canadian student does not hear of until his third year mathematics course. The result is that two years in university is wasted while students catch up to their contemporaries in European centres, and a Canadian degree tends to become the equivalent of a first and second year course elsewhere.

This is especially serious in mathematics which appears to be, with respect to really original work, very much of a young man's game. Newton invented the methods of the calculus when he was 17; the Canadian student does not even start to learn it until he is 19 or more.

There are many reasons for this deplorable situation, the lack of early specialization here, the plethora of frills and "snap" courses which cut into the time available and many others. The basic reason for the difference in standards however appears to me to be the fact that in Europe (and indeed over much of the world) educators have not fallen victim to the North American heresy that learning should be pleasant and easy, and still emphasize the matter taught rather than the techniques of instilling information into little heads in as painless a manner as possible.

Children are expected to work hard and are under considerable pressure to perform to the utmost of their ability, a procedure which I notice is also to be that of the re-born Bréntwood School. This early, familiarization with hard work, which, in spite of the phoney psychology lying knee-deep in our Schools of Education, appears to have no ill effect on their "little psyches," stands European students in good stead when they go to university and to subjects which, not even the "educators" can pretend are easy however pleasant the student may find them.

This familiarity the Canadian student has to achieve after reaching university and the shock of it usually shakes half the first year students right out of the first year.

It may seem surprising that this situation has been allowed to be in the two nations with the world's highest standard of living, but it is that "eternally quoted standard of living" or rather the attitude it has inculcated in us which is one of the main reasons for our backwardness. Hard facts of the superiority in various fields of other peoples tend to bounce off that smug shell of our eternally wonderful standard of living. "If you're so smart why ain't you rich?"

There are many, many things which make Canada a wonderful country, the people, the land, the scenery, but in spite of the refrigerator salesmen, the "standard of living" is not one of them. We must get rid of this smug superiority (or is it inferiority) to the poor benighted Europeans who have to exist with only one car and a small refrigerator before we can again start to learn what they have to teach and perhaps some day catch up mentally rather than materially.

Diet for Gallstones

Commonly, when I see an old lady with silent gallstones which never gave her any trouble and which were found accidentally, I find that her good physician promptly put her on a strict "gallbladder diet." This is a low-fat diet which can be found described in every book on gastroenterology and every book on diet. Why is it low in fat? Someone says, "Because bile helps in the digestion of fat." True, but I just saw an old woman with a well-functioning gallbladder and one soft cholesterol stone floating around in it. An able gastroenterologist recently put her on a non-fat diet which has distressed her terribly.

Certainly, in her case, the bile from the liver is reaching her bowel in a normal way and her digestion is perfect, so why a diet? To make doubly sure, while she was on her usual diet, I checked her stools and found that she was digesting her fats very well.

Even in those cases in which the gallbladder is without function, all of the bile keeps getting through to the bowel; the only change is that it is not concentrated seven times, and it keeps dribbling steadily into the bowel. But this does not worry me so long as the woman says she has the digestion of an ostrich. The important point is, when her digestion is perfect, why should her doctor give her a diet? Probably just from habit and custom.

And here is another peculiarity in our (medical) mental processes. After the gallbladder is removed surgically, we doctors practically never prescribe a diet, and yet the woman lacks a gallbladder almost exactly as she did when she had a "non-functioning one" that was so packed full of stones that no bile could ever get into it.

Her situation, functionally, is the same now after the operation as it was before the operation. Yet, before the operation, we insisted on a diet, and now after the operation we never think of it. We think the woman is cured!

Today, a great many people ask me to find for them a well-trained and trustworthy hypnotist. They are bound and determined that they are going to try hypnotism for their backache or overweight or chain-smoking.

According to Drs. Harold Rosen and Leo H. Bartemeier, hypnosis can be useful in medicine but it is likely to be helpful rather than curative. For a while, headaches can be relieved and anxiety and apprehension can be lessened. Severe itching can be helped for a few months.

A fat woman may be helped to stick to her reduction diet for a few months. Fractures can be set under hypnosis and some minor surgery can be carried out. Hypnosis can help a woman in childbirth. For a while, it can help a person to quit smoking; and sometimes, for a while, it will lessen a pain or a discomfort. Experts feel that the technique of hypnosis should be taught in medical schools, in connection with the department of psychiatry.

Physicians are much against the use of hypnosis by entertainers in night clubs or on the stage. Cases are known in which such hypnosis has caused a violent flare-up of a psychosis. I have a number of letters in my files from mothers of youngsters who were hypnotized on the stage—letters which tell me of disasters which followed. Psychiatrists say that sometimes when hypnosis cures a neurotic person of some disturbance he immediately slips into a much worse condition resembling a mental disease.

A number of hypnotizing "magicians" have gotten into serious trouble with the law because of people whom they threw into a mental disturbance. Some psychiatrists say that in order to get good results one may have to hypnotize a person several times; also they feel that hypnosis should be used as only part of a psychiatric treatment.

Try Smaller Plants for Color

When it comes to fall color, we think usually in terms of gorgous splashes of pink, red, gold and bronze on the large scale of tree foliage.

There are, however, several small and hardy plants which contribute their quota of fall color for the gardener who cannot have large, distant views.

A ground creeper, suitable for large moist pockets in the rock garden, even in partial shade, Polygonum vaccinifolium has delightful red-bronze tiny leaves at this time of year.

QUICK COVER

The creeping stems reach out in all directions, and will quickly cover a given area, each stem terminating in a dainty one-inch spike of pinkish flowers. These last from early September well along into October.

This plant is related to the Russian-Fleece vine, Polygonum baldschuanicum.

Epimedium rubrum is another small plant, having grecy-green leaves. Only a foot high, Epimedium bears its rather odd-shaped leaves in horizontal sprays, which persist for most of the winter.

In spring, the delicate stems of yellow blossoms appear to make it a most worthwhile all-season perennial. Liking a fairly moist, shady location, it is ideal company for some of the smaller rhododendrons.

A third small plant with colored leaves is one of the plumbagos, or leadworts. Now listed and sold under its new name of Ceratostigma plumbaginoides (admittedly nearly two mouthfuls), this little plumbago has dark reddish-green leaves and gentian-blue flowers in the late fall. Growing only 12 inches tall, it makes an unusual perennial edging.

OTTAWA (CP) — The unemployment insurance fund will be down to its last penny by early 1962 unless federal grants are made, the government has been warned.

The fund's advisory committee says another winter of high unemployment can be expected to empty the coffers by next May, when seasonal benefits end.

The committee's report was tabled in the Commons Thursday. It was for the fiscal year ended last March 31 but includes forecasts for the current year.

Balance in the fund, was $184,685,000 at March 31, about half the $365,892,000 a year earlier. The fund's peak was $326,269,900 at Dec. 31, 1956.

Latest published figure since the fund's year ended shows an end-of-July balance of $120,771,909.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker said he will try to find out soon when the special committee on the Unemployment Insurance Act expects to make its report.

The committee was established during the summer recess to study the unemployment insurance fund and how it might be strengthened.

'SAME OLD STORY' BY K ON BERLIN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Western diplomats, like scholars with magnifying glasses, examine Premier Khrushchev's every word on Berlin, looking and hoping for some shift, some change. There is saying Russia hasn't budged.

Three classic examples of Khrushchev's position can be seen to the West: to agree to show the consistency of Moscow's views on Berlin.

One was the note of Nov. 27, 1958; another was the statement Khrushchev handed President Kennedy at their Vienna meeting last June; the third was an interview he recently gave C. L. Sulzberger of the New York Times.

POSITION UNCHANGED

In all three, the Russian position was the same:

1. Russia wants a peace signed with Communist East Germany. If the West won't sign it, Russia will.

2. This will end the allies' right to keep troops in West Berlin. They now have about 12,000. They base their right on wartime and postwar agreements.

3. Russia guarantees West Berlin will be a free city without interference from East or West and with free communication with the outside world.

The city is 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

4. But once Russia signs the peace treaty with East Germany the West will have to deal with the East Germans about getting in and out of Berlin.

5. In some way—Russia is vague on this—the United Nations, perhaps, with neutral troops, could be used to see that West Berlin's freedom is preserved.

They're points to remember.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Engineer Steve Laycock, 48, suffered only minor injuries Saturday when the lead diesel of a 39-car Pacific Great Eastern Railway train broke away and plunged 30 feet down a steep bank near Horseshoe Bay in neighboring West Vancouver. The Vancouver-bound train was travelling slowly when the $250,000 engine broke away from the rest of the cars and stopped 10 feet from the waters of Howe Sound.

Pamela and Nancy Lashing Pacific

TOKYO (AP) — Two typhoons, headed for a direct attack on North Formosa, were raging in the Pacific tonight.

Typhoon Pamela, with winds exceeding 155 mph and moving west-northwest at 17 mph, was expected to strike northern Formosa Tuesday south of Taipei and churn toward the Formosa Strait and the China mainland.

Typhoon Nancy, packing fearful winds of 225 mph, was moving west-northwest at 16 mph, about 310 miles west of Quam. U.S. Air Force weather men reported.

bombs with pinpoint accuracy to any part of the world. The Soviet news agency Tass warned foreign aircraft and ships to steer clear of the target area, about 1,000 miles southwest of Hawaii. This is the area used in previous Soviet long-range rocket tests.

MAKES BOAST

Khrushchev spoke of Soviet military might, but he made no mention of the weapons tests at the commissioning here of a new power plant, described as the world's largest capable of producing more than 2,700,000 horsepower.

In outlining what he called rays of hope that war might be averted, Khrushchev said he detected a change in attitude of President de Gaulle of France and Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany toward talks. He described them as the principal holdouts against negotiations.

"As is known," the Soviet leader added, "President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan have been supporting the idea of talks."

While stressing the need for "reasonableness and flexibility" in international relations, Khrushchev showed no indication he is ready to compromise. Once again he emphasized his determination to go ahead with a peace treaty with East Germany before the end of the year.

ton and Sunday blue laws were relaxed to permit purchases of needed supplies for refugees.

President Kennedy in a telephone call to Texas Governor Price Daniel offered "all possible federal assistance necessary." White House aides sent a similar offer to the governor of Louisiana.

IN LOUISIANA

The hurricane surged over Louisiana's deserted, marshy coast today.

Evacuations continued as rising waters spilled over protective levees and flooded coastal towns. More than 40,000 Louisianians already had fled inland.

From the second storey of the Cameron, La., courthouse, Sheriff O. B. Carter reported eight-foot tides and 65-mile winds. Carter said the highest points in the town of 5,000 were covered by nearly three feet of water.

Residents of Cameron — remembering the 590 left dead by hurricane Audrey in 1957 — needed little prompting to evacuate. By Saturday only Carter and a few of his deputies remained in town.

All-Jet Training For RCAF by '63

OTTAWA (CP) — Defence Minister Harkness announced today in the Commons that all-jet training will be introduced in the RCAF in 1963.

This will be done by introduction of the CL-41 jet trainer developed by Canadian Limited, Montreal.

Mr. Harkness did not give the cost of the program.

Outside the Commons, an RCAF spokesman said approximately 190 CL-41s will be required. This would make the cost about $23,000,000.

If gum were to get into your carburetor, it could lead to unexpected repairs like this. One of the nine ingredients in today's Super Shell fights gum to give you top performance.

GUM:

Gasoline gum used to cause unexpected repair bills.
Today, one of Super Shell's 9 ingredients fights off gum — to save you money and give you top performance.

The gum preventive in today's Super Shell is so powerful that one thousandth of an ounce is enough to treat a whole gallon. Read what this remarkable "chemical policeman" does to make costly gum problems a thing of the past.

THE MECHANIC in our picture is about to go to work on a gummed-up carburetor. A costly repair job.

But as far as Shell scientists are concerned, the carburetor gum problem is ancient history. And so are all the other troubles that used to be caused by gum in gasoline. Like sticky intake valves. And fouled automatic chokes.

"Chemical Cop" at work

The gum preventive in today's Super Shell is so effective that a thousandth of an ounce is enough to treat a gallon.

This remarkable ingredient has been described as a "chemical policeman."

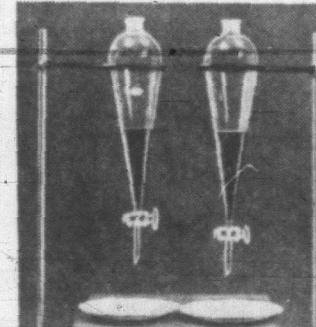

It helps keep unstable elements in the gasoline from sticking together—just the way a skilled policeman prevents trouble by keeping a crowd from forming.

How Super Shell fights gum

Shell's gum prevention programme starts at the refinery. Careful refining processes keep potential gum-forming components to a minimum.

But, Shell scientists know that, in Winter Blend

Now you know how one of Super Shell's nine ingredients works to give your car top performance. For a quick run-down on the other eight, see box at right.

As temperatures drop across Canada, two ingredients in Super Shell's nine-ingredient formula are adjusted to give you top performance in cold weather: 1. A special compound is added to reduce stalling caused by "carburetor frosting" in cold, wet weather. 2. Super Shell's Winter Blend contains more butane, the eager ingredient that vaporizes even in zero weather to help you have fast starts on cold mornings.

Result: Unprocessed gasoline without gum preventive deposits sticky gum on plate (left). Gasoline with Super Shell's gum preventive leaves virtually no trace of gum (right). No gum, no gum problems. One reason why today's Super Shell can promise top performance.

Here are the 9 ingredients in Super Shell—and what they do to give your car top performance

#1 is TCP* for power, mileage, and longer plug life.

#2 is mixed pentanes for fast warm-ups.

#3 is anti-knock mix to resist all kinds of knock.

#4 is heavy alkanes to control "high-speed knock."

#5 is butane for quick starts.

#6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline—for extra power.

#7 is an "anti-icer" to help prevent icing stalls when cold weather strikes.

#8 is gum preventive to keep carburetors clean inside.

#9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

Death Stalks Races— Von Trips, Hayward Die

Twelve Fans Also Killed At Road Race

MONZA, Italy (AP)—A shocked outcry for a limit on automobile racing arose in Italy today after a blood-red Ferrari car shot into a crowd of spectators Sunday, killing 12 persons and its famous driver, Count Wolfgang von Trips.

Eleven spectators died at the scene. The 12th died in hospital.

Twenty-five others were injured.

The handsome German, leading contender for the 1961 world drivers' championship, was smashed to death beneath his car on the second lap of the Grand Prix of Italy.

The veering car rocketed through a guard rail at more than 100 miles an hour and plowed into spectators jammed elbow to elbow.

Other racers continued to roar around the super-speed track for two hours past the crumpled-dead, sprawled at the track side by side and covered with newspapers. Ambulances took the injured to hospitals.

The toll was as high as the accident in 1957 which doomed the Mille Miglia, long Italy's great and often blood-stained open road race.

MARQUIS KILLED

In that accident, the Spanish Marquis de Portago's car plowed into a group of roadside spectators killing de Portago, his United States co-driver and 10 others.

In the outcry which followed, open road racing in Italy was banned and the Mille Miglia since has been whittled down to a speed-limit auto rally.

The same cries were being heard today against track racing.

The Monza race—and the world championship—was won by Phil Hill of Santa Monica, Calif., in a Ferrari like Von Trips'.

Hill did not know anyone had been killed in the accident.

After the race he stood beaming with joy as the U.S. national anthem was played for his victory. Then he learned about the dead.

He turned white with shock and collapsed on a bench. Companions led him away. He was too stunned to speak.

ONLY MINOR

For two hours after the mishap—until the end of the race—track officials kept insisting it had been simply a minor incident. The national television network which had shown the race said it was only a minor incident.

Eyewitnesses could not restrain their horror in describing the accident.

"The car punched a hole in the crowd," one said. "It carved its way through them like a scythe."

The scene was reminiscent of the Le Mans disaster of 1955 when a racing car exploded and ploughed into the crowd, killing 82 persons.

Officials said the accident happened on the 43rd lap of the 43-lap race. As von Trips entered the tight Vedano corner, they said, a Lotus driven by Jim Clark, of Britain, rammed his car from the rear.

Calgary 35, B.C. Lions 17

By HAL MALONE

VANCOUVER—They call Joe Kapp the "Stockton Slingshot" because he loves to throw the football. He threw often but not often brilliantly Saturday night at Empire Stadium.

His most accurate toss of the night came in the third quarter. With B.C. trailing Calgary 19-17, Kapp dropped back deep in his own territory, scanning the landscape for receivers.

Linebacker Wayne Harris and end Ed O'Bradovich came barreling down on him, intent on as much mayhem as possible. Most quarterbacks would have swallowed the ball, taken their lump and a loss of yardage but retaining possession. Not Kapp. He threw it.

Lovell Coleman, a surprised and pleased Stampeders, didn't stop to thank Kapp or to remark on his accuracy. He ran easily for a touchdown. Gene Filipski converted.

For the first half, the Golden Arm was as good as his reputation. He tossed long passes to Bob Jeter and Willie Fleming for touchdowns. B.C. might never have had the opportunity for the Kapp-to-Jeter score had it not been for a Calgary fumble, deep in its own territory. But the breaks fall both ways and Kapp is as entitled to them as anyone.

Pass Was Poor... Défense Was Worse

After each B.C. touchdown, they stopped for tea and thrust, Calgary came back to the Lions, especially Kapp, the score, due mainly to their Saturday baths and conceded.

The B.C. fans who came to cheer and left with nothing to cheer about, thought Kapp stood for Kapp—cool, capable and confident. If only he had been clever, too, things might have been different. But not likely.

Calgary had Eagle Day, cool, crafty and crisp. He also has an edge on experience. What he did proved once again that when two quarterbacks clash, you'll win more often than you'll lose if you put your money on the tested pro.

Bob Schloredt, Kapp's understudy, gave B.C. the lead for the last time with a booming punt into the end zone. Day came up with the play of the night. On a second down, he rolled out, half-slipped and was half-tackled.

Practically horizontal he threw to Bruce Claridge for nine yards and a first down. Day banged his nose hard enough to surrender his spot to Jerry Keeling. Having missed on one pass, Keeling tried again.

B.C.'s Norm Fieldgate broke to cover Calgary's Robinson, streaking for the end zone. Suddenly and inexplicably Fieldgate stopped. Robinson didn't. Keeling hadn't thrown a good pass. It hung in the air so long you could have sold advertising on it. But when it finally came down Robinson was alone. Calgary had the go-ahead touchdown (19-17) and B.C.'s pass defense looked like... no, we won't say it since this is a family newspaper.

Argos blasted out a 20.7 first-half lead, then sawed off the 19-17 and B.C.'s pass defense looked like... no, we won't say it since this is a family newspaper.

WHEEL FROM STOCKER KILLS TWO YOUNG FANS

WAUSAU, Wis. (UPI)—The wheel of a speeding stock car slammed into a crowded grandstand at State Park Speedway Sunday killing two small children and injuring two others.

James Eller, 5, Schofield, Wis., was killed instantly, and Lynn Schweigle, 5, Wausau, died a few hours later without regaining consciousness. Authorities said the girl was hit head on by the wheel, and tossed into the air.

Carol Eller, 6, and Timothy Baumgardt, 4½, Wausau, were hospitalized, but their condition was good.

Authorities said Mrs. Baumgardt, seated with the children, threw herself in front of them when she saw the wheel smash through a railing and zoom into the stands. She was not injured.

The wheel came off a car driven by Ed Feltch, Wausau, on the first lap of a 20-lap race.

Canadian Ace Breaks Neck As Boat Flips

DETROIT (AP)—Bob Hayward of Embro, Ont., soft-spoken and cautious king of powerboat racing, died of a broken neck Sunday after he sent his Superstition II into a fatal roll on the Detroit River.

Hayward, champion of unlimited-class hydroplane racing who brought Canada the famed Harmsworth trophy for the last three years, died instantly.

He had attempted to squeeze two boats and into the lead on the first turn of the second heat of the Silver Cup Regatta.

The 33-year-old former chicken farmer was the first driver to be killed in 11 years in an unlimited hydroplane accident.

Hayward was pronounced dead after doctors failed to revive him at the pit area and he was taken to hospital.

A NATIONAL HERO

Hayward was a national hero because of his three Harmsworth victories, the most recent last month at Picton, Ont. In 1959, he brought Canada her first Harmsworth, breaking 20 years of United States domination of the trophy, on the same Detroit River course on which he was killed.

"If a hydroplane is driven too fast, it will take off," Hayward wrote before last month's Harmsworth.

"I once saw a hydroplane take off up a swell and made a complete loop-the-loop."

Witnesses at the first turn and pit area said Hayward's speeding boat flipped when he tried to work her between Seattle's Century 21 and Detroit's Miss U.S. I, leaders of the heat.

RACE CANCELLED

The remaining heats of the 45-mile race were cancelled.

Miss Bardahl of Seattle, driven by Ron Musson, was declared Silver Cup champion for winning the first section of the first heat with an average speed of 108.09 m.p.h.

Such Crust, driven by Fred Aiter of Detroit, placed second, winning the section with 98.084.

Century 21, the Gold Cup winner from Seattle driven by Bill Muncey, was third.

Ironically, Miss Superstest was disqualified in the first heat for striking a buoy. Hayward called attention of officials to this, thus disqualifying himself.

To remain in contention in the three-heat race, Hayward had tried to get a quick start in the second heat.

12-STRAIGHT

Yankees completed a home stand of 12 straight victories when Bob Cerv's pinch sing delivered the winning run in the first game and Bud Daley breezed in the nightcap with the help of Mickey Mantle's 53rd homer and Elston Howard's 19th of the season.

Mantle's 53rd homer in the Yankees' 14th game of the season left him 16 games in which to hit seven homers to Babe Ruth's record of 60 in one season. Roger Maris went homerless in the double header and with 56, needs four in his next 10 games to equal the mark.

Warren Spahn won his 19th game of the season and the 307th of his career as Milwaukee won. One more victory would give the great southpaw his 12th 20-win season.

Hornets, Juveniles

Sting Gridiron Rivals

Victoria Hornets found themselves in their own nest.

The city's entry in the Fraser Valley Junior Football League, winless after two road games, scored its initial victory Sunday at Carnarvon Park by drubbing Chilliwack Mustangs 33-13.

Ron Jameson, with two, Murray Superele, McFarlane and Nelf scored majors for Victoria. Neff also contributed three converts.

Superele, a standout two ways, and tackle Ed Mitchuck sparked for Hornets on defense.

Fred Holmes got two majors in Vampires' rout while Winderlin, Gord Archer, Emile Wigwitz, Brian Rigby, Neil Worboys and Dennis Todd scored one each.

In Vancouver Island Juveniles League action Sunday, Victoria's two entries—Vampires and Farmers—chalked up one-sided victories at the expense of up-island clubs.

FALKNER TOPS ARMADA IN LEGION'S FISHFEST

Art Falkner proved to be the top man in the fishing fleet, but the big prize in the Royal Canadian Legion, Britannia branch, annual salmon derby went to G. Bomhoff, 574 Agnes Street.

Bomhoff walked away with a new boat, motor and trailer—a $750 unit—as the consolation prize.

Falkner landed a 23-pound spring in Saanich Inlet to claim an outboard motor and the branch trophy. Al Huck claimed the visitors' prize with a 21.03 catch and Mrs. Pat Blackburn won the women's prize with a 6.13 salmon.

Other fishing prizes in Sunday's derby were won by Ted Robertson and Art Lohr.

BLUE HAWK SURPRISES

Good Samaritan Act Provides Just Reward

By HAL MALONE

VANCOUVER—Tommy Fenton didn't want to enter Blue Hawk in the $7,500 Premier's B.C. Handicap, crown jewel of the local racing season, Saturday at Exhibition Park.

"I'll put him in to help you fill out the race," he told associate steward Merv Peters and racing secretary Stan Goddard. "It looks as if we have a chance, we'll try but I'm really interested in the two-miler Monday."

Precisely at 3:37 p.m. the happiest of 10,000 people at Ex Park was Tommy Fenton. Blue Hawk, entered only to "fill out the field," had won a whiskers decision. Mr. Fenton was "delirious . . . and $6,075 richer."

Equally happy if not quite as wealthy were the few punters who thought Blue Hawk had a chance. Their fortitude was rewarded with a $39.50

Short-Staffed Drakes Lose

Seattle's semi-pro Ramblers maintained their supremacy over Victoria's intermediate football team, but you still have to give the Drakes some credit for holding the Americans' margin of victory to 27 points.

Saturday's exhibition at Macdonald Park finished 27-0, but it could have just as easily been 47-0.

Bigger and healthier, Ramblers broke loose for most of their points in the second and third quarters. Drakes, who dressed only 21 players, had their best innings in the first and fourth quarters.

Don Wheatley, Tony Softill, Don Mann and Jim Williams scored majors for Seattle. Jim Whitney converted three of the touchdowns to round out the scoring total.

Drakes face another tough test next Saturday at Macdonald Park. Jack Patrick's Drakes tackle unbeaten New Westminster Royals, who Saturday ran their winning streak to three by edging University of British Columbia.

Bill Foster has had his fling, and it looks like Ray Pottinger now has some designs about stealing the spotlight at Western Speedway.

Pottinger has been sweeping the board for much of the season at the Langford stock car racing plant. Saturday, however, the best the young veteran could do was a victory in the second heat.

It was the first time in the history of the tournament, which has been played 31 times, that it had gone into extra holes.

ROCK-TOSSESS MEET

Annual meeting of the Sunday Commercial League will be held Sept. 17 at Victoria Curling Club, starting at 7:30 p.m.

STIRRING FINISH

Into the stretch it was Black Balladier by a length and a half over Blue Hawk. Ulrich put Balladier into a drive. So did Bob "Jigger" Dale exhort Blue Hawk. Down the lane they came, Blue Hawk inching closer. Step by step he closed the breach. At the tape he had it.

The grandstand rocked. Despite the fact $8,500 was wagered on Balladier, the patrons screamed with glee. An outsider had defeated the hot favorite. And their glee was compounded in that the favorite was owned by Dave Diamond whose horses, notably Black Balladier, had won practically all the major stakes except this one.

When you buy a house is it absolutely necessary to get your insurance from the firm that handles the mortgage?

ANSWER:

Certainly not. You just inform the lender or mortgage firm that you want the fire insurance placed through an insurance agency of your choice. You name the agent and that's all there is to it.

BAIN TOPS JAMES BAY DERBY

Springs Take a Back Seat

Spring salmon, ordinarily the trophy winners in most local derbies, had to take a back seat to Cousin Coho in the third annual James Bay Anglers' Association derby.

Richard Bain tied into a 13-pound 15-ounce coho an hour and a half before the five-day derby closed Sunday to claim top honors. The 23-year-old Victoria angler used a Minnow Teaser to attract the winning coho about 1:30 p.m.

Mike Tuson, with a 13.08 coho he caught Sunday, took second place, while Ken Garland was third with a 13.02 salmon caught Thursday.

Coho also swept the ladies prizes with Mrs. Phyllis Wood dent Alf Perry, was the biggest and most successful in the young history of the James Bay anglers. The entire proceeds of the derby will be funnelled towards erection of a new clubhouse.

Following are the hidden-weight prizewinners:

Fred Wood, Keith Rawlings, Ron

R. Pilling, Tom Wilson, Ron Rawlings, A. Thompson, Art Selby, Dusty Rhodes, T. Bowles and Fred Edging.

Sailors Stage Crack Show Sea-Going and Air-Going

Canada's flying sailors stole some of the glory from HMC Dockyard and HMCS Naden when Pacific Command of the Royal Canadian Navy held "open house" Saturday afternoon.

More than 1,000 men, women and children flocked out to Patricia Bay to watch the navy's VU-33 Utility Air Squadron in action.

They gaped at a fast-flying display put on by Trackers, helicopters and high-speed jets, and cheered when navy rescue squadrons snatched a dummy figure from a smoke-filled Anson aircraft.

4,000 at DOCKYARD

But the sea-going sailors at Dockyard and Naden still had by far the biggest audience, estimated at close to 4,600, and the variety of displays and contests kept them moving in droves.

While many hundreds lined up to go on board the submarine HMCS Grise, hundreds more swarmed over the sunlit decks of destroyer escorts and frigates, dressed over all for the occasion.

4 Lost Boys Found Dead In Reservoir

TRENTON, N.S. (CP)—The bodies of four Trenton boys, missing since last Tuesday when they went on a bottle-buoyant trip, were found Sunday in an abandoned reservoir about a mile from their homes. The bodies of Sydney Smith, 12, his 10-year-old brother Ronald, Billy Farrell, 8, and Andy MacNeil, 7, were found floating in the reservoir.

Three of the bodies were close together near one shore, the fourth on the opposite side of the pond. A small makeshift raft was found a few yards away.

Firemen dragged the reservoir Friday without discovering anything. Police believed the bodies may have been lodged in mud at the bottom of the reservoir.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hicks of Trenton were out for a stroll through the woods when they discovered the bodies.

It brought to an end one of the most widespread searches in Pictou County history.

£ FOR £ YOU CAN'T BEAT ANGLIA!

£ for £ or $ for $ Anglia speaks a language all its own. In its British homeland, where more little cars are sold than anywhere else in the world, Anglia outsells every other car, regardless of size or make! Reasons? British craftsmanship is the main one. British engineers and designers developed Anglia to be the best car in its class. They did it so well Anglia is in a class by itself. Proof? Style for one thing. From gleaming front grille to raked-back roof, Anglia proves that a little car needn't be homely. Performance is another. In grueling road rallies held around the world Anglia has developed a habit. It consistently scampers home with the winners (to the vast annoyance of bigger, more powerful cars, we might add!) And of course there's economy. If you had to pay the equivalent of 75¢ a gallon you'd soon pick a car that delivered top mileage per gallon. Britons have picked that car. Test drive Anglia and you'll find out why! See your Anglia dealer—he speaks Anglia language, but he speaks yours too.

Growers' Wine Company of Saanich may soon have a union representative on its board of directors.

E. G. Warner, general manager and principal stockholder, said over the weekend he'll try and adopt a suggestion made Friday by businessman Ralph Pybus of Vancouver at a meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Pybus urged business men to give labor a voice in policy-making decision.

The time is coming when all workers must participate in the profits of a company.

I feel keenly that labor has a stake in the company at the policy-making level."

He said he would personally contribute the necessary shares to the union to enable a representative to sit on the board.

ONLY ONE STEP

Victoria Labor Council secretary A. W. Toone, pointed out this is only one step toward the overall relationship enjoyed by business and labor in some parts of Europe.

If the proposal is made in good faith, it's a good idea.

Bargaining agent for the winery's 40 to 60-man staff is Local 344 of the Distillery Workers' Union.

Victoria labor men earlier approved the idea of having labor representatives on boards of directors, provided unions retained their identity.

The system—common one in Europe—was discussed by Mr. Pybus, chairman of the Greater Vancouver Metropolitan Industrial Development Commission, at a luncheon meeting of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

He was supported by Arnold Hart, president of the Bank of Montreal, who said the system could benefit labor, business and government in Canada.

Aubrey Kent, past president of the Victoria chamber, agreed.

NDP CHOOSES COLUMNIST BARRY MATHER

CLOVERDALE, B.C. (CP)—

Vancouver Sun columnist Barry Mather, husband of a CCF member of the British Columbia Legislature, Saturday night was nominated New Democratic Party candidate in the constituency of New Westminster in the next federal election.

His wife Camille is CCF member for Delta.

Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan, NDP national leader, told the convention the next federal election will be fought on the issue of a planned and productive economy which would eliminate unemployment and improve the standard of living.

Mr. Douglas said the NDP will oppose the "Diefenbaker plan" which produced a society for big bosses, run by big bosses.

DISMISSAL CALLED WRONG SOLUTION

Early Decision Due on D'Arcy

Under cross-examination by Capt. D'Arcy, said complains from educational authorities were not that my client's teaching was ineffective but that it was not uniform... not like everybody else.

NO CONFLICT

"I do not believe I have done anything in conflict with the basic intent and philosophy of the curriculum laid down by the department of education.

"To me it is an evil thing—and I use the word evil considerably—to expect young students to accept things by rote, copying them down unthinkingly.

"At best they will have an hallucination of mastery if they attempt to produce things that, so far as I can see, they can't possibly understand."

Capt. D'Arcy admitted he had not issued the Industrial Arts Teachers' Manual to students; he had interpreted it.

J. Alan Baker, counsel for

Mr. Haldane, Captain D'Arcy weighed his answers carefully and at one point said:

SHOW ME

"Any progress made in our civilization has resulted from somebody, not doing what everybody else is doing. Mr. Baker said Capt. D'Arcy had been described by witnesses as a "good teacher" and an "excellent teacher." He had the highest possible qualifications.

"The real point of the difficulty is that he does not think he should teach these exercises until the students understand the basic theory involved."

"His dismissal is not under any circumstances a proper solution to the problem."

Ship Runs Reduced For Winter

Reduced winter ferry sailings between Vancouver Island and the mainland went into effect today on the Vancouver-Nanaimo run.

It was the next-to-last seasonal cut in ferry service connecting the mainland, but there are contemplated alterations in the service from Swartz Bay to the Gulf Islands at the end of this month.

A spokesman for the B.C. Toll Authority, new owner of the Gulf Islands service, could not say whether reduced service was anticipated.

Canadian Pacific service from Vancouver-Nanaimo dropped today to eight trips, with first sailing at 1 a.m.

The same service by Black Ball Ferries continues on the even hour between 6 a.m. and midnight, but is expected to be reduced by two trips daily soon.

Black Ball Transport Inc., operating the Victoria-Port Angeles service, has halved its schedule to two trips daily, at 9 a.m. and 1 p.m.

The CPR's Victoria-Seattle service was dropped entirely at the beginning of September.

And the Toll Authority's Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service is reduced by two round trips—the early and late sailings—to operate on the odd hours 7 a.m.-9 p.m.

Titles Decided By Tie-Breakers

A 14-year-old Shawnigan Lake girl and three Victoria water skiers walked off with the main event prizes in Vancouver Island's first closed salalom championships Saturday.

Freda Hurley, the Shawnigan Lake lass, won the junior girls' title and also placed third in the ladies' event, won by Sheila Olson of Victoria. The latter won over Ev Vye in a re-run over Shawnigan Lake.

A tie-breaking run was also needed in the men's event, with Bill Vye getting the nod over Bill Hughes in the rerun. Jim Green won the junior boys' title.

Meeting Tonight On Skiing Plans

NANAIMO—A meeting of Nanaimo and upper Vancouver Island ski clubs will be held at Departure Bay tonight to discuss proposed development of Green Mountain as a winter skiing area.

Earlier this year the Snowbirds' Ski Club of Victoria obtained a lease from the E and N. on Green Mountain covering 596 acres.

The new ski area is situated above Third Nanaimo Lake and is about 25 miles west of Cassidy, south of Nanaimo.

Plans for the development of the new skiing area call for a new lodge and the removal of two ski tows from Mount Brenton to the slopes of the new parkland.

Snowmobile service is also being considered.

Ski tows to be erected on Green Mountain are 1,000 feet and 800 feet long.

The mountain's elevation is 4,808 feet and offers skiing for novice and expert on slopes with snow at depths from four to 12 feet.

NANAIMO—The Nanaimo Zoological Garden, home of many native animals such as cougars, beaver, elk and fox, for many years, is going out of business.

Licence for the nearby Wellington zoo, operated by Dan Detweiler, expired Sept. 5. He has offered to turn over all the animals to the city for $1.

NANAIMO—Capt. E. L. McKey, well known in shipping circles here, is retiring after serving 50 years at sea.

The seafarer who was senior pilot in B.C. water, once commanded the oil tanker Nainamo-life.

NANAIMO—L. Thomas Lester, well-known optometrist, has been named vice-president of Nanaimo Gyro Club.

He succeeds David R. Gardner, who has moved to Vancouver.

NANAIMO—An assize court jury Thursday took only a few minutes to find William Cubitt of Victoria not guilty of criminal negligence in an auto smash that caused one death.

Cubitt was charged following the death of greenhouse operator William Powell a month after a two-car smash here in November, 1960.

The CPR's Victoria-Seattle service was dropped entirely at the beginning of September.

And the Toll Authority's Swartz Bay-Tsawwassen service is reduced by two round trips—the early and late sailings—to operate on the odd hours 7 a.m.-9 p.m.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Is Yours a Stony Path?
Follow It to This Shop

By PENNY SAVER

Ever heard of thunder eggs? Penny hadn't till she wandered into one of the most fascinating shops in Victoria. The owner has various sizes of these mountainous and crater-pocked stones that resemble miniature mountains, plus scads of other interesting rock. When cut open the thunder eggs reveal a centre of agate which when polished mechanically to a marble finish and set on a stand provides a unique piece for the mantel. Depending on size, ornaments are 50 cents and up.

In one corner of the shop, a machine (Penny admits her technical knowledge is limited) tumbles smaller stones to a high shine. Polish, the owner says, will last thousands of years. Results are tiny bead-like stones, all sizes and colors. Bracelets and necklaces made of these with any beads you may buy in a jewelry store. What's more, they can be made up to suit yourself—if 16 strands aren't enough, there's no reason why you can't have more! Bracelets start around $3, necklaces about $5.

For a stunning brooch there is nothing like a piece of pink rhodonite which seems to carry a picture etched in black. Or there are pendants of agate, glowing with subtle color. Penny could go on at great lengths—but you need the satisfaction of seeing for yourself.

If you decide you'd like to become a "rock hound", yourself, the owner gives classes so you can make your own jewelry. He also sells rocks if you are unable to find suitable ones.

To discover where to go to see if Penny's raves are honest, call her at EV 2-3131.

WHY GROW OLD?

Can Diminish Effects of Premenstrual Tension

Most women experience a laugh at herself, and exert as much control as possible. Her husband and family will be more tolerant if she should "blow up," when they understand the reason behind the irritable temper.

This tension usually takes the form of extreme nervousness, irritability, fatigue, or sensitiveness and weeping. Some women just feel tense and tired for a few days before the arrival of their periods.

A few women do not have any of these symptoms, but most of them have at least one. It is important to consider these seriously because of the unhappy effect they may have on your human relationships. Even the best adjusted woman may react in ways not natural for her during these few days each month.

It is wise for the woman and her family, especially her husband, to recognize this fact. For her part, she can be aware of the danger of her moods, and tired for a few days before the arrival of their periods.

DEAR ABBY

One Man's Answer!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Thank you for your wise answer to "Church Widow." As a pastor I am aware that many people regard church fund-raising activities, such as bingo and carnivals, as a service to God. Yet we would do better to leave undone much of what has been done in His name.

I disagree when you say that most churches need funds (and fund-raising) for survival. They do need funds, but fund-raising affairs hurt more than they help. Our churches need significant gifts from dedicated members. But fund-raising affairs are only excuses to get non-members to help the church pay its bills.

SANFORD WRIGHT,
Westminster
Presbyterian Church.

DEAR ABBY: We are having an argument in our X-ray department about the difference between an old maid, a spinster and a career girl. Would you please settle it by defining each?

THE ROENTGENS.

DEAR ROENTGENS: A career girl is an unmarried female who doesn't feel the need to apologize for being single because she is "married" to her job. An old maid is a single woman because either (a) nobody has asked her, or (b) nobody whom she wanted has asked to marry her. A spinster is an old maid somewhat advanced in years.

HURST,

DEAR HURST: Let's start with the assumption that the rings given you came from the man who loves you. And end with it. Wear the rings, ignore your mother-in-law's unsolicited newscasts, and cherish thy husband.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "HOPEFULLY YOURS": Quit torturing yourself. You told him he was forgiven. Now, never mention the incident again, and forget it!

"Are things rough?" Let Abby help you solve your problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and send to 205 Park Road, Burlingame, Calif.

'Eyes Down, Let's Play On'

LONDON (AP)—The master of ceremonies at a bingo night held up his hands and asked for silence.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said in a tone resembling the voice of doom, "I have to tell you that Russia and America have declared war on one another."

His face pale, he stepped down and waited for the reaction from 212 players.

"Hurray," shouted one man.

About a dozen women abandoned their bingo cards and fled for the exit.

But the other 200 just looked annoyed.

Seeing this, the master of ceremonies, George Watters, said:

"Oh well, eyes down and let's go on playing."

Talking about the incident in an interview today, he said: "I was stunned by what I thought was a new world war and the people's indifference to it."

The false alarm was sounded on Saturday night in Lochgelly, Scotland.

He explained that he had been standing outside the hall for the second day in a row at the two-day Vancouver Island Dog Fanciers Association championship show and obedience trials which ended Saturday at the Curling Rink.

A male toy Pekinese, Ch. Kee-Ting Tsun Hai, was judged the best dog in the show.

He explained that he had been standing outside the hall when some people came by and told him they had heard the declaration of war on the radio or the television.

The conference was told many countries have already encountered significant increases in numbers of patients who, on first diagnosis, are resistant to one or more of the effective drugs.

Dr. Gertrud Meissner of Bad Oldesloe, Germany, noted that the degree of resistance to

Mayor Scurrah, Reeves Appeal to Citizens To Score on $320,000 Red Feather Goal

By HAL JONES

"Let us make this a better community as a result of this appeal."

Thus, civic leaders of Greater Victoria today placed responsibility for this year's crucial United Appeal squarely in the laps of local citizens.

$320,000 GOAL

It was the concluding statement in a civic proclamation read from the steps of City Hall this morning by Mayor

Percy Scurrah to open the 1961 Red Feather drive for $320,000.

After announcing start of the 24th annual drive in Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich, Esquimalt, Central Saanich and the village of Sidney, the document noted:

The money will be spent during 1962, Victoria's centennial year; Thanksgiving Day falls within the campaign period; and that the organization's 22 agencies helps those whose incomes are insufficient to provide all the necessities of life, or who have experienced misfortune in health or management.

... IN THE HOPE

Therefore, be it resolved that we, the chief magistrates of these communities, hereby declare the period from Sept. 12 to Oct. 31 United Appeal Month and do hereby attach our signatures in the hope that all our citizens will realize the urgency of this appeal and, in turn, remember their responsibility to the less fortunate of this area and give generously when the canvassers wait upon them."

START TUESDAY

Four divisions of the campaign will be actively canvassing by Tuesday: special corporations, special names, professional, and industrial commercial division—large firms and executives.

Campaign kits were being distributed today to provincial government employees, HMC Dockyard employees and Royal Canadian Navy personnel.

Although residential and street canvassing is not scheduled to begin until Oct. 16, advance donations will be gladly accepted at headquarters, 1951 Cook.

PARED TO BONE

Agency budgets have been pared to the bone to come up with a realistic goal of $320,000 this year. This compares with a target in 1960 of $350,000 and is the lowest goal since 1958.

"We must and will succeed," Chest president and campaign chairman Justin Harbord stated before the campaign opened.

WILLISTON HAILS PILOT PACT FOR POOLED NORTHWEST POWER

A pilot agreement for pooling U.S. northwest power resources was hailed today by B.C. Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston, as another step forward in the Columbia River project.

The pooling plan, to be tried out for one year, was announced Sunday by Bonneville Power Administrator Charles F. Luce in Portland.

Mr. Williston said the move will show exactly how much power is used and needed in the northwest.

It will not only indicate size of the market for power from the Columbia scheme, but also show exactly how great Canada's downstream benefits will be.

Premier Bennett wants to sell all the benefits to the U.S.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Council approved a rental of $8.50 an hour, all found, or $30 a day, plus driver, for other public works departments or private contractors needing the machine for road work.

What about greedy people? They are simply products of want and scarcity. No man needs a dozen pianos, but under the capitalist system he will try to get as many pianos as he can.

What about drunks—the men who want five times as much liquor as anyone else?

"They, too, are products of want, but also of strain and frustration," Mr. McLatchie replied. "If a man drinks more than is good for him, he needs medical treatment—he is not a criminal."

What about violent drunks?

"Violence, too, is a product of want and frustration, unhappiness, resentment. But we would, of course, need groups of custodians—not police—to look after dangerous mental cases."

Mr. McLatchie seemed arused by the B.C. government's recent take-over of the B.C. Electric.

"That is no more socialism than the nationalization of the British railways and mines. It has accomplished nothing. We still have strikes and prices have gone up instead of down."

BIGGEST TEST SO FAR MADE IN FAR NORTH

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union detonated two more nuclear devices in the atmosphere over the weekend.

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission described Sunday's blast as "one of the order of several megatons" or the equivalent of several million tons of TNT. This contrasted with reports on the other explosions described as in the low to intermediate range with a TNT equivalent of only a few thousand tons.

Bob Hayward, the Canadian who rocketed to fame earlier this summer by winning the Harmsworth Trophy for a third successive time, also was killed Sunday when his boat flipped in the second heat of the Silver Cup regatta on the Detroit River.

Hayward, a chicken farmer who lived in London, Ont., brought fame to himself and Canada when he won the Harmsworth Trophy—top challenge race in international power boat competition—for the first time in 1959.

The two five-year-old tots were killed when a wheel from a stock car crashed a guard rail and went into the stands in a race at Wausau, Wis.

ROCKET TESTS PLANNED

'There Will Be Talks' Says K

STALINGRAD (AP)—Premier Khrushchev chose Russia's bloodiest battleground of the Second World War to tell his people he sees "encouraging rays of hope" of settling the Berlin-German crisis peacefully. He predicted "there will be negotiations."

The Soviet leader's declaration Sunday brought wild and complete disarmament uncheers from a crowd of 35,000 der strict and effective international control was the most important question now confronting the world."

But while the accent was being placed on peace, the Soviet government announced it will fire "more powerful" and improved multi-stage rockets into a Pacific target area beginning Wednesday and continuing to Oct. 15.

The Russians have announced that these rockets could deliver super nuclear weapons against the city's 17-foot seawall.

The weather bureau predicted winds up to 80 m.p.h. in Houston, 50 miles inland from Galveston. Countless industries were shut down.

The weather bureau predicted winds up to 114 m.p.h. in Dallas and as far west as Laredo on the Mexican border, to find shelter.

Torrential rains that started along the coast Sunday are expected to bring up to 15 inches more water, the weather bureau said.

Many smaller towns were deserted. Only police officers remained to prevent looting.

Emergency measures were invoked at inland centres. All schools were closed at Houston and Louisiana coast field

FLOODS BRING SNAKE PLAGUE

TEXAS CITY, Tex. (AP)—This section of the upper Texas coast has another worry today other than hurricane Carla—rattlesnakes.

Civil defense director Kirby Smith said a 10-foot tide caused Texas City, across the bay from Galveston, to be flooded by Moses Lake—and with the floodwaters came the rattle snakes.

"They're everywhere," Smith said. "My men say they are trying to climb up walls of homes while trying to get out of the water."

K to Quit On His Terms?

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Prime Minister Nehru said to-day he thought Soviet Premier Khrushchev would like to abandon the current series of Soviet nuclear tests.

Speaking to reporters at the airport here on his return from Moscow talks with the Soviet premier, Nehru said: "He would like to give it up if conditions are favorable according to his thinking."

Nehru said he was sure the Soviet and American leaders would meet although he had not obtained "any impression" about this during his talks with Khrushchev.

A black and white advertisement for Safeway. The central focus is a massive, three-dimensional Safeway logo. This logo is constructed from numerous smaller, individual Safeway signs, creating a dense, layered effect. The signs are tilted at various angles, some pointing towards the center and others away, giving it a dynamic, three-dimensional appearance. The background is a dark, textured surface. Floating around the logo are several US dollar bills, some with the value '$1' clearly visible. The overall composition is a dense, abstract representation of the brand's name.
